

"Surrogacy: A Gift, Not a Sale," by Kathy Gianelli.

1. Does the title suggest the author's point of view? Do you think it is useful to do this in a title?

2. Does she define terms? Which? Where does she do this? Why?

3. Make an outline of Gianelli's essay. (We will review these in class and I will collect them.)

a) Where does she place her strongest argument?

b) How does she treat the opposition arguments? (acknowledge? accommodate? refute?)

c) Does she use "block" style or "point-by-point" style in presenting her argument? Do you think this is effective?

d) What evidence does she use to support her arguments? Does she support her points adequately, in your view?

4. What documentation style does she use when citing sources?
