

Situational Usage

What would you say in the following situations?

1. Comment to your classmate that he is good at playing guitar. And, tell him that you want to learn (playing) guitar.
2. Tell your colleague that you wanted to stay at your friend's house when you were child on every Saturday.
3. Tell your colleague that you intend to go to Mr. Fuji next weekend because your friend wants to climb Mt. Fuji.
4. Tell your colleague that you usually do such things as shopping and doing laundry on Monday.
5. Ask your friend where she is coming from.
6. You meet your acquaintance that you haven't seen for a long time. Greet him politely.
7. Tell your neighbor that you have met Mr. Bill Gates (ビル・ゲイツ) and he has told you that he likes baseball.
8. Tell your classmate that you have never cut classes.
9. Your friend invites you for dinner. She suggests Japanese food, but you had Japanese food for dinner last night. Tell her that you had sushi for dinner yesterday and suggest Italian food instead.
10. Tell your neighbor that you drink tea and coffee, for example, but you don't drink Japanese tea.
11. Tell your friend that you bought just one T-shirt because you didn't have much money.
12. You heard that your friend would go to Australia in July. Tell her that you have never been there and also want to go there.
13. Tell your colleague that you think that Mr. Tanaka likes doing such things as going for a drive and singing karaoke on weekend.
14. You were asked what you want to do during summer vacation. Tell your friend that you want to do such things like doing a part-time job and playing with friends.
15. Tell your colleague that Yamashita wanted to go dancing, but he didn't go because he had a lot of work.
16. Ask your neighbor if he has had a fight with a friend.
17. You went to see a news movie on weekend. Tell your friend that it was so-so.
18. Tell your teacher that you are studying for about five hours every day because you want to be a president of a company in the future.
19. Your acquaintance plans to go to Japan next year and asks you about Kyoto and Tokyo. Tell her that there are many famous temples in Kyoto, but there are not many in Tokyo.
20. Your American friend asked you what he should bring when he visits people in Japan. Tell him that you think that things like sweets and fruits are good for souvenir.
21. Ask your friend which is better between swimming in the lake and going art museum.
22. Your teacher asked you what you want to do in the future. Tell her that you want to become either a singer or a actress in the future.
23. Tell your child that he must not do things like telling a lie or cutting classes.
24. Ask your colleague to introduce the president of your his older brother's company to you.

25. Ask your friend if he has ever be late for his class.
26. You are staying in Okinawa with friends. Tell them, expecting agreement, that you want to stay here for one more week.
27. You are on a shinkansen with your colleague. Tell him that you are a bit thirsty.

MIT OpenCourseWare
<http://ocw.mit.edu>

21F.502 / 21F.522 Japanese II
Spring 2013

For information about citing these materials or our Terms of Use, visit: <http://ocw.mit.edu/terms>.