

The Fox Case - Room for one more

A number of changes make it easier to enter

- cheaper transmission technology
- more syndication
- more independent stations
- demographics makes the “young” niche larger

The networks have a hard time defending.

Unfortunately, these same changes reduce industry profits.

Beyond position relative shares are influenced by “hit shows” plus “lead in” effects, albeit less than in the Nintendo case.